About Gray Langur

Passion And Possibility

Gray Langur was founded out of a sincere love for Bhutan, and the desire to share that with others. We want to show people the Bhutan we fell in love with, which sometimes lies a bit off the beaten path. We've partnered with experienced veterans of the Bhutan tour industry to create tour experiences that showcase Bhutan's intentional juxtaposition of modern and traditional, of expected and unexpected.

You'll experience it all; from iconic temples in the Himalayan cliffs to out-of-the-way sights only the locals know about. And we're committed to sustainable tourism that boosts local economies, preserves land and culture, and keeps Bhutan thriving for decades to come.

Tshering Tashi: Director of Tours. "Tashi", as his friends call him, is a 15 year veteran of the Bhutan tour industry, with an unmatched passion and capacity to execute any itinerary even the most seasoned traveler could ever dream up, and an uncompromising love for his native Kingdom. Gray Langur is enormously privileged to have him as its partner-on-the-ground.

Gabriel Cubbage: Founder. From the very first moment the former CEO of AdBlock, and forever "digital nomad," got off the plane at the wrong stop in India, got back on, and then got off again in Bhutan, he fell totally in love with it, and walked away from Silicon Valley to devote his life to Bhutan's "high value, low impact" approach to sustainable development. He can't wait to never go home.

Bhutan is a place for travelers, or those who want to be
